CONSTRUCTION OF HUGE HILL SIGN BEGUN THIS WEEK

Monumental Landmark to Be Visible From All Valley Points

Construction of the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce hill sign, to designate the location of the town and the Niles canyon mouth, began Monday, after a careful survey of Walpert's hill and a temporary marking to decide on size necessary.

The sign committee, under the direction of Guido Tuana, cleared away the grass last week and marked out the huge letters in lime. It was decided after that, that the letters would have to be larger and spaced wider apart, Tuana said. He gave the overall dimensions of the proposed monument as 30 by 150 feet. The letters will be ten feet apart, to be composed mostly of stone, and each letter will be faced with a durable concrete finish. The letters will be tilted up at the back several fet to accentuate the slope.

In addition to its value as an advertisement, and a landmark for tourists, the sign will be located with an eye to value as a guide for air travel. Niles canyon, a heavily traveled air lane to the central valleys, is sometimes obscured by low fogs, as are landmarks on the valley floor. The sign will be visible at a high altitude. Attention of air line companies will be called to the monument, and its exact location given.

Tuana has named as his assistants in the construction work the following; James Delury, Clarence Pine, Lawrence Pine, Tony Lucas, Charles Messinese, Antone Figuero and E. Damas. Other members of the junior group will assist in the work.

O. E. Walpert, owner of the hill on which the huge marker will be placed, gave his full permission to the civic group, and urged them to proceed with the work. The hill has long been known as "Walpert's" hill.

Orcutts Away On Long Stay In Eastern States

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Orcutt and daughter, Jeanette, left Niles today on a trip to the east coast that wil keep them away from home for four months.

They are driving across by the way of the southern route to Florida, where they will spend a month before proceeding up to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt are well known here, the latter having served for many years as postmaster of Niles.

Young Runckle Held For Drunk Driving

Arrested late last week, when he crashed into Leonard Lucio's car in Centerville, Chris Runckle, Jr., was charged with operating a car while in an intoxicated condition, according to a report received this week.

The arrest was made by Highway Patrolman C. R. Avillar. Lucio is said to have stated that he will not press charges beyond collection for damage to his car.

TECHNICAL K.O. RECOVERS PET

NILES WITNESSED a real coon hunt Saturday afternoon, with nothing lacking but the dogs, when "Old Sam," local Chinese vendor, let the masked critter slip through his fingers as he was transferring it from one cage to another at his place in the alley off Eye street.

Making a bee line for the nearst timber, the coon mounted to the top of a tree near the court house, while Sam and a platoon of small boys followed in full cry. Charles Oliver clambered gingerly into the tree and shook the coon down, whereupon the chase was taken up where left off, this time up Eye street, between rows of laughing spectators.

Lawrence Pine, among the vanguard of the pursurers, rapped the fleeing beast across the ears, much to Sam's dismay. The latter bore the stunned creature to its cage, where he brought it round with a dash of water He inferred that he would rather lose the coon than hurt it, but thanked Pine for his timely interference, nevertheless.

FIRST PEAS TAKEN OFF ED. ROSE'S HILL RANCH

The first peas and potatoes to be harvested and marketed in the south county were taken off the Ed. Rose hill ranch last week, and commanded a fancy price in Oakland and San Francisco produce markets.

The peas were among the early ones being harvested in the cenral coast counties. A few are being picked at present, but the crop will not develop to major proportions for another week.

The early production is so light this year, that growers and dealers are not attempting to forward any of the produce to the Los Angeles or eastern markets. Relying on local demand to take the first picking, shippers will enter the eastern market later, when the harvest is in full swing.

CROPS SURVIVE TWENTY-NINE DEGREE FROST

A contrast of climates, boding no little damage to local crops, was seen in Washington township last Thursday morning, when farmers awoke to find Mission Peak blanketed with snow, while blossoms in the orchards formed a foreground.

The fall of snow, while of short duration was sufficiently heavy to cover hilltops in Niles canyon. The white covering melted before nightfall.

With peas in a crucial stage for frost damage, and apricot blossoms almost full, growers watched their thermometers since the snowfall. The coldest time recorded since was Sunday morning, when the mercury fell to twenty-nine degrees in some places, just one degree short of a killing frost. The damage was slight.

Orchardists in this district are not equipped to smudge.

Mrs. J. C. Shinn and her daughter, Miss Milicent Shinn, were among members of the Loma Prieta Chapter of the Sierra Club to spend the week-end at the club's ski camp, at Norden, in the high Sierras.

PASSENGER KILLED WHEN CAR HITS STALLED TRUCK

Hurtling into the rear of a truck stopped on the Dumbarton highway, about a mile east of the bridge early last Friday morning, a car driven by Glenn V. Pierce, of 313 Warwick avenue, San Leandro, was demolished, with the resultant death of Galen Pierce, passenger, The driver was taken to the Merritt hospital, Oakland, in the Botelho ambulance. Attendants at the hospital said he was in a critical condition with a crushed chest and a broken leg.

The accident occurred after the truck, enroute to Fresno from San Francisco, had broken down, and was parked on the side of the narow road. The driver, Charles G. Rogers, of 253 Divisadero street, Fresno, told officers that he had placed flares in the road both before and behind the stalled vehicle, and that an inspection of his tail lights showed all burning.

Funeral services for Galen Pierce were held at the Chapel of Chimes in Oakland Monday morning under the direction of Botelho's Chapel of Palms. Pierce is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel Pierce and a son, Gale Pierce. He was 42 years of age, and prominently connected with a large Oakland lumber company. He was a native of Wisconsin.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

AMONG THOSE "WHO BELONG"

The big income-earning, tax-evading capitalists are using chambers of commerce to parrot their opposition to publicity on income returns. Like a lot of jack-in-the-box simpletons, that many of them are, civic bodies all over the land are memorializing congress to repeal the law opening to public inspection incomes turned into the revenue department by the Morgans, the Rockefellers, the Mellons, the Baruchs, as well as by Mr. Babbitt of Main street, U. S. A.

It is really an amusing thing to see the small fry business man, who couldn't muster five thousand dollars if his life depended upon it, rising up in a chamber of commerce to give support to propaganda engineered by the billionaire class. He imagines he is a capitalist, too, and must chant the song of money; if not, people might suspicion that he was not "up in the world." It would be just too bad to be associated mentally and politically with those who believe that the interests of the very rich are not by a long ways identical with their own.

So the poverty-stricken professional and business man mimicks the wealthy, and gets a lot of happiness out of the fact that "he belongs." On the outer fringe he beholds the "reds" and dissenters with a healthy contempt.

AND THE RICH MAN LAUGHS.

THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER

Father Charles E. Coughlin, the Detroit priest and social worker, spoke Monday night over what was supposed to be a nation-wide radio hook-up. On the Pacific Coast the registered air wave stations carried no Coughlin voice to listeners waiting in their homes. And even for those who had short-wave machines, the priest could not be heard after the first two minutes he began talking.

The writer does not know whether there is significance in the fact that in "Royalist California" Coughlin's voice was as silent as the grave; or if the reason was entirely due to the lack of funds to break into the air lanes of this great state. Anyway, thousands of admirers of the great Catholic were sadly disappointed in being cut out of the epochal address in which the speaker referred to "General" Johnson as a political corpse, and the Chocolate Soldier of the Roosevelt administration.

TOYON BRANCH WILL HAVE GARDEN FETE THIS SUMMER

Plans for a garden party, to be given some time in May were discussed Monday, when the Toyon Branch of the Children's Hospital met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. J. R. Whipple, with Mrs. Norman H. Parks as hostess.

The garden fete, formerly an annual feature of the branch's activities, has not been held for several years. It will be made one of the most elaborate to date this time.

Mrs. William Harold Oliver, of Piedmont, chairman of the Alameda County Children's Hospital, was a guest. Among other branch activities discussed, Mrs. Oliver stressed the value of reciprocity between the branches. She told the members of a contest between branches for the best story on "What the Children's Hospital Branches Mean to the East Bay." A committee of four —Mrs. J. C. Shinn, Mrs. Norman H. Parks, Miss Mildred Nauert and Mrs. Gladys Williamson— were named to collaborate on the story. The $100 prize for the best story will be credited to the annual quota of the winning branch.

Participation of the local unit in the Mills Horse Show again this year was discussed, as were plans to contribute plants to a forthcoming sale by an Oakland branch.

The meeting, directed by Mrs. J. R. Whipple, was attended by sixteen members. There were two guests. Miss Mildred Nauert presided over the tea-table.

JUNIOR INSTITUTE ENJOYS UNIQUE SOCIAL TIME

A unique social, to which each small member brought her own dinner, was held by the Junior Institute of the Y. L. I. at the I. O. O. F. hall last Thursday night. Following the "individual" dinner, which began at 6:00 p. m., the members enjoyed ping pong, played on tables recently purchased with funds from the organization treasury.

At their previous meeting, the young group received the official visit of Miss Mary Simon, east bay director of Junior Institutes. The visitor was honored with a short program. Refreshments were served.

JONES HONORED AT MEETING OF CHAMBER MONDAY

Life Membership Given Ardent Community Worker At Meet

Tendering him a life membership of his long and untiring work in behalf of the community, the Niles Chamber of Commerce Monday honored F. V. Jones, retring president of the organization. It was the first life membership ever given by the group.

E. Dixon Bristow, speaking for the group, lauded Jones for his years of work, and called attention of the members of the numerous community and district works in which Jones had a leading part. He told of the wide horizon of interests of the former president, and stated that the chamber would not have thrived so well without his untiring efforts. Bristow revealed that the chamber, knowing of Jones' appreciation of flowers, had presented him with a valuable daphne plant, as a small token of their esteem.

Previous to the ceremony in honor of the former president, the civic group listened to a talk by A. J. Petsche, in which he told of a forthcoming county year book, in which south county towns would be given pages. The book, to be published by the county, and backed by chambers throughout the region, will contain a pictorial record of industrial and agricultural growth in past years. Petsche said that Washington township towns will be visited by representatives gathering material and pictures for the volume.

Dr. E. C. Grau, who presided over his first meeting, appointed E. F. Glassbrook as speaker for next week.

Visitors were J. R. Blacow, of the Irvington bank, and H. F. Gray.

DECOTO FACTORY DAMAGED BY FIRE TUESDAY MORNING

Office Records Destroyed In Costly Blaze at M. and S. Tile Plant

Several thousand dollars damage, including destruction of valuable records, resulted from a fire of uncertain origin that swept through the main structure of the M. and S. Tile Company plant at Decoto Tuesday morning. Decoto firemen, on the scene almost at once, saved the buildings.

The blaze started about 11 a. m. near the office, in the rear of the building, either from a small heater, or from a forge in an adjoining room, plant officials thought. The office, center of the fire, was gutted. Records, files and office equipment were destroyed. Sweeping into the machine tile room, the flames damaged valuable patterns and molds, and endangered several large electric motors. The kilns, in operation at the time, were not injured.

Manuel Rose, plant foreman, who discovered the fire, was severely burned about the hands and face when he made a futile attempt to extinguish the flames at the start.

Officials at the plant stated that the loss was covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Moore entertained a number of guests Saturday evening at their home here, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGraw, who were married at Reno recently. Mrs. McGraw is the former Miss Annabelle Henry.

Depth in "Free" Diving Suit

The limit to diving in water in a "free" diving suit with an oxygen helmet is caused by the toxic effect of breathing pure oxygen. A diver breathing pure oxygen could dive to a depth of 66 feet in water and remain at that depth no longer than 30 minutes, according to a writer in the Washington Star. A diver could dive to 33 feet and remain no longer than two hours. The result of exceeding these limits would be pneumonia or convulsions or both. Also the carbon dioxide percentage must not be allowed to build up beyond 3 per cent measured to one atmosphere absolute pressure.

The Poet Homer

The name is given to the entirely unknown poet—or group of poets, perhaps—to whom is assigned the authorship of the "Iliad" and the "Odyssey," the greatest monuments of ancient or modern epic poetry. It is much doubted, says the Washington Star, whether any such person ever existed, but the name rests on very ancient tradition, and the date at which the poems are thought to have received their final shape is conjecturally put at anywhere between the Twelfth and the Ninth century B. C. Homer's birthplace is quite unknown.

Water in Corn

Thirty per cent or more of the weight of corn at harvest time may be water. The moisture content decreases after the crop matures at varying rates (in accordance with the weather and storage conditions) until it approximates the average moisture content of the surrounding atmosphere. When its moisture content has reached this level the corn is commonly considered dry.

"Ladies First" in Shanghai

In Shanghai women regard the "ladies first" movement as a symbol of their status. The Chinese woman of the old school still follows a few feet behind her husband on the street. But the modern woman walks side by side with him on the street and regards this custom as a symbol of her freedom also to march abreast of him intellectually and socially.

California boasts three distinct species of foxes: the red, gray, and large-eared desert fox. The red fox inhabits only the northern portion of the state, migrating as far south as the Tehachapi mountains.

Care for Good Birds

It does not take any more feed and care to raise a pullet that will be a 200-egg producer than it does to raise one which will produce only 100 eggs or less. The best way to get a start with a flock of high-producing hens, says the Prairie Farmer, is to buy baby chicks from such a flock and raise them carefully. The next best way is to buy a few good birds and keep them in a separate pen and hatch their eggs for a new flock. Good hens should be mated with a male bird from a high production strain in order that the progeny will have high-producing characteristics. In flock management it is well to keep the thought in mind that original cost is only a minor cost in flock replacement. Care and feed are the big items, and they can be wasted on poor birds, not worth the cost of their sustenance.

Eliminate Infected Hens

Some good reasons for eliminating infected hens from farm flocks are: First, the fertility of eggs from infected hens is low. On the average, 71 per cent of chicks which are hatched from infected eggs die of pullorum disease. Infected hens lay on the average less than half the eggs that healthy hens lay. Thirty per cent of reacting hens, on the average, die annually, whereas the normal death rate in farm flocks is estimated at about 10 per cent.

Limerick Treaty

The Treaty stone, mounted on a pedestal at one end of Thomond bridge in Limerick, is supposed to be the flat stone on which the treaty of October 13, 1691, was signed, ending the siege of Limerick and the war between the forces of William III and James II. One of the clauses of the treaty was understood to grant the Roman Catholics of Ireland the free exercise of their religion and another clause gave them the right to keep their property on taking oath of allegiance. These and other provisions of the treaty were violated by the victors, so that in Irish history Limerick is known as the City of the Violated Treaty.

Buckwheat for Cows

Buckwheat can be used in feeding dairy cows up to 25 per cent of the grain ration, says a writer in Prairie Farmer. It has about the same protein content as a half-and-half mixture of ground ear corn and oats, while it supplies about 85 per cent as much digestible nutrients as such a mixture. If 100 pounds of buckwheat can be purchased for less than 85 per cent of the cost of 100 pounds of the corn and oats mixture, it will pay to use it, otherwise not.

Chopping Roughage Pays

A lot of cornstalks will be fed this year and when they are worth $8 a ton, as they are in many sections, writes a correspondent in Wallaces' Farmer, chopping pays big. Tests made at experiment stations, as well as by many farmers, indicate that chopped corn stalks will supply 30 per cent more feed per ton than whole stalks. A large amount of corn fodder will also be fed this winter, and that has a much higher feeding value than the stalks alone or stover.

End Codling Moth by Spraying Trees

Heavier Pruning Necessary During the Early Winter, Entomologist Says.

By S. C. Chandler, Assistant Entomologist, Illinois State Natural History Survey.—WNU Service.

With the codling moth as bad as it is in apple orchards, growers may have to start pruning their trees heavier this winter in order to do a more thorough job of spraying in the spring.

This may mean fewer apples, but it will mean higher quality fruit. As it is, one out of every ten apples grown in Illinois in 1934 was infested with codling moth worms. Too many growers still think only of producing the maximum number of bushels rather than harvesting quality fruit. It usually is not necessary, however, to reduce the total crop to get worm-free apples.

If the grower can answer all six of the following questions in the affirmative, he can feel that he is pruning heavily enough for effective spraying against the codling moth.

Has the tree been thinned out enough so that the man on the tower of a spray can drive the spray material through the tree?

Are there enough openings in the tree so that the ground man can get into the center and spray the inside? With large, fairly dense trees, some growers leave three or four such openings.

After the operator gets to the inside, has the tree been thinned sufficiently so that he can do a thorough job of spraying?

Have too many low-hanging branches been left on the tree? Trees twenty-five years old may have a spread of 30 feet. If the branches touch the ground or come within a foot of it, the side of the apple facing the trunk will not be hit by the spray.

Has the height of the tree been lowered as much as practicable? The top of the tree is the playground of the codling moth and infestations are usually worse there.

Have all hibernating places about the tree, such as punky, decayed wood, old knot holes, split branches and pruning tubs be removed? These are favorite "hideouts" of the moth.

Korean Lespedeza Will Supply Emergency Crop

Midwest farmers who need an emergency hay crop in 1935 may find that Korean lespedeza will fill the bills, says Dr. A. J. Pieters of the United States Department of Agriculture. Doctor Pieters advises seeding on winnter wheat or with oats next sprin. For a hay crop, a seeding of 25 pounds to the acre is recommended.

This authority says the crop may also be seeded alone on land that is not weedy. He recommends inoculating the seed where the crop has not been grown before. He reports a good supply of seed available.

Doctor Pieters says that where Korean lespedeza was grown in 1934 a good volunteer stand is probable, and he says that small grain may be disked in the old lespedeza and a crop of grain hay and one of lespedeza raised on the same land.

Seeds Stimulated by Rays

Seeds that refuse to sprout when planted can be roused from dormancy by soaking and then exposing them to the proper colored light for a short time. Only the longer wavelengths of light have this stimulating power, Dr. L. H. Flint of the United States Department of Agriculture has found. Seeds exposed to light at the blue-violet end of the spectrum refused to germinate. Even seeds that had been given the stimulating treatment with the longer wavelengths at the red end of the spectrum and then were exposed to blue or green light would not sprout. The treated seeds need not be germinated immediately. They can be dried out and planted later.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Farm Inventory Is Guide to Business

All Equipment and Live Stock Should Be Listed for Tax Purposes.

By R. T. Burdick, Economics Department, Colorado College of Agriculture—WNU Service.

Can you give a complete list of all the machinery, live stock, supplies and property that you own?

A complete inventory of your property will prove a valuable aid in answering this question, and in helping to plan for needed repair or replacement of equipment.

Inventories may save money, too. A complete check may show that the tax assessor has listed you for too much property. All business men need to know the facts about their equipment and holdings, and farmers are no exception.

Do you know how much feed of various kinds it takes to carry each class of live stock through the winter? If not, now is a good time to make some careful estimates. Find out just how much feed is on hand, and you can tell how much you will have to buy or may have for sale. You will have some valuable information to help you in planning ahead.

A complicated set of record books is not necessary for taking a farm inventory. The simplest form of pocket notebook is better than nothing. The inventory and other farm records and accounts can be kept in a book supplied by the college extension service. The important thing is to get the information written down, and a notebook that can be slipped in the pocket.

Farmers are urged to adopt the inventory habit and assemble information about the farm. It pays to study what you are doing, and it pays to plan ahead.

Cold Frame Is Advised for Early Vegetables

The construction of a cold frame will be a big help in the growing of early vegetables, says E. B. Morrow, extension horticulturist at North Carolina State college.

At small expense, he says, a cold frame can be prepared to protect the young vegetables until they have become comparatively hardy and until the coldest weather has passed.

The frame should be located on the southern or eastern slope of a hill, when possible, to protect it from the north winds and to give the plants the best exposure to the sunlight. Bank dirt around the northern and western sides of the frame as an additional protection.

A frame is what the name implies, Morrow says: a framework of boards over which can be spread light cloth or canvas to protect the plants from the weather. The top of the frame should be approximately three feet from the ground.

Leads in Raising Goats

The West has been interested in the raising of goats for some time. California leads with the most goats; Texas is second. It is claimed that six goats may be maintained for the same cost as it takes to care for and feed one cow. A goat does not need much space and likes to browse among brush, weeds, leaves, twigs and bark. Goats are not the solution of what to do with one's old razor blades and tin cans. However, they do eat the paper from tin cans. They like paper, as it supplies fiber for them. Their feed is very much like that of a cow, consisting of alfalfa, hay, barley, bran and silage.

Winter Manuring Pays

Top-dressing the wheat crop with manure in mid-winter has increased the crop by six bushels to the acre, and clover hay 850 pounds at the Ohio experiment station, according to Robert M. Salter, agronomist. These results were on wheat that had received 300 pounds of superphosphate at seeding time. On land lacking a supply of phosphate, results would not be so good. Rate of application was four and one-half tons to the acre in making the test.

Poultry

EARLY CHICKS KEY TO INCOME ON EGGS

Birds Likely to Come Into Fall Production.

By M. L. Mosher, Farm Management Division, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

One of the first things that poultrymen can do in the new year to increase their average annual cash income of $20,000,000 from eggs is to buy or hatch their baby chicks early enough in the season.

When properly fed and cared for, early-hatched chicks are more likely to come into egg production in the fall months when prices are higher.

In a group of 26 north-central Illinois farms last year the egg sales amounted to an average of $104 more in the same area because the hens were raised and fed to produce more eggs during the fall and winter months when prices were good. The extra feed used to bring the pullets into early production amounted only to $36 a farm, thus leaving $68 a farm more above feed costs.

The records kept on these 121 farms showed that the 26 better-paying flocks produced 25 per cent or more of their eggs during October, November and December. These same flock owners received an average of five cents a dozen more for all eggs sold during the year than did the other 95 farmers whose birds produced less than 10 per cent of their eggs in the high-price season. The feed cost was only 1¾ cents a dozen more on the farms producing the higher percentage of fall and winter eggs. These differences in selling price and feed costs, when applied to all eggs produced on the farms accounted for the average $68 increase in egg profits.

An average of 40 more eggs were produced by each hen on the farms that fed for fall and winter production. Higher quality of hens, better sanitation and health practices and improved feeding methods, all contributed to this larger production. That the hens were kept busy laying eggs throughout more of the year seemed to be an important reason for the greater average production for each bird in the 26 better-paying flocks.

Allow Ten to Fourteen Turkey Hens to One Tom

Ordinarily, about ten turkey hens should be mated to one tom, but if the pen be large 12 to 14 hens may be used with a single young tom, says the Missouri Farmer. If a large flock of hens are kept, several toms can be used on the hens, in which case they should be alternated—one tom allowed with the hens one day, and another tom the next day, etc. Such a mating makes for extra good fertility because the toms have a chance to rest and feed on alternate days. Also if one tom should happen to be sterile the eggs from hens with which he mates will not be lost. Furthermore, if toms are alternated they can be used on a larger number of hens than where they are used entirely with an individual pen.

If two or more pens are kept they should be separated so that the toms cannot fight through the fence and thus waste their time as well as weaken themselves. More than one tom should not be placed in the breeding pen at one time unless the pen is large, embracing several acres. Nests should be provided which may be a barrel, a large box, or a brush pile, and one nest should be available for every five hens.

Order of Eastern Star

The Order of the Eastern Star was organized in 1876.

Ex-Service Man; Veteran

The terms ex-service man, veteran, are often loosely used interchangeably. An ex-service man is one who has formerly been a soldier or sailor; he may be young or old, and may have served a few months or have grown old in the service. Nothing in the term indicates age or length of service. Properly speaking, however, the term veteran, when applied to one who is or who was a soldier or sailor, denotes a man "long trained," or who "has grown old in service"; hence, it does not properly apply to a young man or to a man with a short record of service. It is from the Latin veteranus, meaning "old," or, when used in a military sense, "an old tried soldier."—Literary Digest.

"A Pair of Twins"

Webtser's dictionary states that the colloquial phrase "a pair of twins" is commonly used to designate offspring born at one birth. The one word "twins" means exactly the same thing, denoting two individuals, so there is no need to add "a pair of." To be perfectly logical, and assuming that "pair" is equivalent to two sets, one might assume that a pair of twins would be four persons, but common usage decrees otherwise.

Little Japanese Girls Motherly

In Japan, nearly all little girls are obliged to take care of their younger brothers and sisters. It is not uncommon to see a small maid, only four years of age, playing in the street with an infant strapped on her back. They are taught to bear such burdens with safety by practicing with a doll for several hours a day from the time they are able to walk.—Collier's Weekly.

Synthetic Black Eyes

Although people since prehistoric times have mutilated and deformed their bodies, about the most curious instance of this type of sacrifice to fashion occurred among Russian women of the Sixteenth century, who practiced dyeing black the whites of their eyes.

Santorin, Greek Island

The name of Santorin, a Greek island in the Cyclades, is a corruption of Saint Irene. Many prehistoric dwellings have been found there. At Scaros, near by, may be seen a village that is gradually falling into the sea.

"Ink" From Cuttlefish

The black fluid (called "ink") obtained from ink sacs of certain species of the cuttlefish or octopus is used in the manufacture of "sepia ink." Sepia ink is rich, reddish-brown in color and is used mostly for water coloring.

Eads Bridge in St. Louis

Catbird as a Ventriloquist

The catbird is something of a ventriloquist. Occasionally when it is quite near its song will have a peculiar soft quality that makes it sound as though the bird were far away.

Canberra, capital of Australia, claims to be one of the world's garden spots, having 2,750,000 trees and shrubs, 40,000 miles of hedges and 20,000 roses.

Doctors Know!

...and they use liquid laxatives

You'd use a liquid, too, if you knew how much better it makes you feel. A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Just ask your own doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help—and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without aid.

People who have experienced this comfort, never return to any form of help that can't be regulated! The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit. It relieves a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset.

To relieve your occasional upsets safely and comfortably, try Syrup Pepsin. The druggist has it.

GRAVE DECORATING BY SONS WILL BE DISCONTINUED

Discontinuation of a time-honored custom of decorating the graves of deceased members of Native Sons parlors in Alameda county is forecast following a meeting of committeemen in Oakland.

Pointing out that the custom is becoming burdensome due to the vastly increased number of graves, and to their scattered location, members of the larger parlors advocated a unified memorial service, to be held at some central point each year. Objections of the smaller parlors, which still find it possible to mark each grave were overruled. Tom Silva and J. D. Norris, both of the Washington parlor, Centerville, were in favor of retaining the old custom. Both Norris and Silva were among the speakers of the evening on other subjects, giving an interesting history of the local parlor. Ernest Pimentel and Frank Madruga also attended.

tone and Felix Pinza. A committee to arrange for a permanent meeting place is composed of Charles Janeiro, Wilbert Goulart and Raymond Soares.

Launching immediately into their civic work, the thirty-four members listened to discussion of plans for better street lighting, and for the rebuilding of the Bell ranch bridge, said to be one of the most dangerous in the state. According to Chairman Thomas, members told of the accidents at the bridge heads during past years, and went on record as opposed to school busses loaded with children crossing the structure. The bridge is situated on the highway connecting Decoto with Machado's corners, and is used as a major truck route to the Dumbarton bridge. Two trucks can not pass on the narrow structure and angular approaches as well as poor visibility render it extremely dangerous, Thomas declared.

Those who signed the roster at the first meeting were: Felix Pinza, Charles Janeiro, A. L. Costa, J. Calderio, LeRoy Cloudene, Manuel Silva, Melvin Pepitone, J. Pepitone, W. Brown, L. Cambra, R. Roares, F. J. Thomas, Britley Harris, J. Brazil, A. Cloudene, H. A. Stewart, W. Goularte, Vernon Carey, H. Sumaquero, T. Monte, V. Delgado, W. Amaral A. Ferreira, C. Nunes, A. Brown, A. Chamarro, M. Sanchez, J. Muniz, J. Vargas, M. Andrade, C. Freitas and Alfred Brown.

MONUMENT WILL HONOR CABRILLO AT POINT PINES

Portuguese of Alameda county recently began their organization to participate in a proposal to erect a shrine in memorial to John Rodrigues Cabrillo, who discovered California in 1542. The shrine is to be erected at Point Pines, on Monterey bay, site of the first landing place of the explorer.

Two hundred and fifty feet high, the memorial will be crowned with a beacon for guidance to air and sea craft. Bas reliefs will depict important events in the maritime life of the Portuguese nation.

Portuguese societies in this district stand ready to assist in the project, members said, if organization goes through as forecast. J. C. Valim, secretary of the I. D. E. S. lodge, stated recently that his organization had not yet been approached.

Program At Masonic Home Last Sunday

More than 350 residents of the Masonic home, Decoto, composed the greater part of a capacity audience at the home Sunday, to enjoy a musical comedy, staged through the courtesy of the Argonaut Lodge No. 461, F and A. M., of San Francisco.

The cast and director, the latter Ralph Edwin Phiefer, were here in 1934, in a parody, "The Merry Widower." The play Sunday was "The Masqueraders," with thirty-five in the cast. The men of the cast, in male attire in the first act, transformed themselves into convincing ladies in the second. Removal of wigs and introductions were necesary to make the audience believe the deception.

Tuesday evening of this week, Sequoia Lodge, No. 349, Oakland, instituted in 1902, favored the Master Masons of the home with a visit, during which the E. A. degree was conferred. P. W. McLean is the master of the lodge.

On Sunday, March 17, Professor O'Brien and his vocalists, of San Francisco, will give an entertainment at the home. The Morgan Hill lodge will be entertainers on Friday, March 22.

GRAMMAR NINE IN WIN OVER HIGH SCHOOL FROSH

Showing their mettle as an up and coming nine, the Niles grammar school baseball team defeated the Washington high school freshmen Tuesday afternoon in a game played on the Niles diamond. Julius Pine and Tony Mesquite each hit a home-run for Niles. Pine, on the mound, allowed the high school lads only two hits. The score was 12 to 1.

LEAGUE GAMES TO GET UNDER WAY EARLY IN APRIL

New Ball League Will Arrange Schedule March 21st

Baseball fans will thrill to the flash of spikes and the crack of the bat in southern Alameda county towns on April 14, when the new baseball league will get under way with games slated for the first half of the organized season. The schedule of games and a definite check on the teams to enter will be the business of league officials next Thursday night when they meet at Joe Pashote's Newark garage.

Definite word that the I. D. E. S. team, Warm Springs outfit, will be out of the league was received at a meeting of the officials last Thursday night in Niles. The I. D. E. S. organization held that the restrictions imposed by league ruling as to eligibility, would prohibit them from playing all members of their organization, as they have in the past. League heads had lengthened the I. D. E. S. territory to Wayne Station.

With the I. D. E. S. out, Centerville definitely without a team and Decoto still untangling its own difficulties, the nines remaining are Niles, Alvarado, Newark, Pleasanton and Irvington. A Livermore team, coached by Bill Fisher, will enter later, it is thought.

High school players, on several squads at present, will be unable to participate after the formation of the league, until the high school schedules are closed. This will virtually prohibit the prep stars from the first half of the league play, but will allow them in the second half. Both the Niles and Newark teams as they now stand will lose about three men for the first half by this ruling.

At the meeting of officials in Niles last week, the names of five prominent south county men were introduced as a possible league board of directors, to pass on questions that may arise from time to time. H. L. Scott, president of the league, stated that the directors were being chosen for their interest in the game and knowledge of the rules. In speaking of the number of teams in the new league, Scott emphasized the fact that all teams suiting the requirements will be welcomed, and that managers should get in touch with officials. The latter are: H. L. Scott, president; J. Jason, vice president; Ernest W. Schween, secretary, and A. L. Pashote, treasurer.

NILES NOSES OUT IRVINGTON 1-0 SUNDAY

Indications of how the competition will stack up in the new south county league was brought to the attention of baseball fans in Washington township Sunday when Niles and Irvington, future league opponents, met on the Irvington diamond in a tight, hard game that ended with Niles on the long end of a 1 to 0 score.

Deadlocked with no score up to the eighth inning, the game balanced in favor of Niles when Raso was brought home on a squeeze play by Clarence Pine. In the seventh frame, Irvington had three men on base with no outs. Perfect fielding by Niles prevented a score.

Duke Dutra, pitching for Niles, allowed four hits and fanned nine of the Irvington boys for the shutout. Schultz, on the mound for Irvington, allowed ten hits and fanned three.

Niles, with thirteen straight wins, will lose three of their regulars, according to Manager Pine, due to a C. I. F. ruling preventing high school players from participating in organized ball.

PIPE PLANT SHUTS DOWN AT NEWARK LAST WEEK

With completion of the huge Hetch Hetchy pipeline from the Irvington portal to the bay crossing the American Steel and Concrete Pipe Company plant at Newark has ceased operations.

Work stopped late last week, and the machinery is being removed at present. The equipment will be shipped to Los Angeles, from which point the greater part of it will be shipped to Seattle, where the company has another contract.

It is reported that some of the material and machinery may be left in Newark, with the understanding that the plant will be put in operation again in the event the company secures the contract for making pipe to be used on the west side of the bay.

The pipe plant furnished work for numerous men while in operation in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Anders and son left Sunday for Lodi, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Anders' grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Silva, residents of Redwood City, were visitors in Newark Sunday. They own the Newark Hotel, which they had leased during the time the concrete pipe company was operating in the town.

Niles Men Take Part In Motorcycle Picnic

Fred Amaral and Chester Rose, both of Niles, were among several score of motorcycle enthusiasts who enjoyed a barbecue picnic recently at Livermore. The event was sponsored by several east bay motorcycle clubs.

With more than 150 of the two-wheeled machines in single file, the retinue extended for more than a mile on the way to the ranch where the picnic was held.

Amaral stated that numerous of the club members regretted the absence of George Richards, formerly of Niles, who had distinguished himself as an aviator. He is reported to be engaged in flying activities in San Francisco.

HEAVY RAINS ABATE DANGER OF SALT WATER SEEPAGE

Diminution or salt seepage into wells in the outlying districts of Washington township is seen, following heavy rains and a continued creek flow for the past few weeks.

Wells in the district east of the Niles-Irvington fault have risen to a high point for the year, the water being only about thirty-nine feet below the surface. A corresponding rise, though smaller, is gradually permeating the higher gravels in the outer reaches, which were endangered by salt water percolation.

Cyril Williams, engineer for the Eden Township Water District, outlined the position of gravel beds throughout this district at a meeting at Mt. Eden Tuesday night. He stated that the Alameda creek was the main source of underground water, and announced that well-levels were rising throughout the district.

The rise is in part attributed to pumping activities by the local water district, in one of the gravel holes west of Niles. A stream of water, amounting to over six million gallons a day is being poured into the gravels west of the Niles-Irvington fault. The pumping will continue as long as the creek flow continues, according to J. C. Shinn, Sr., water district director.
